

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Hester L. Miller, nee Hundley, was born at Breeding, Ky., Nov. 5, 1880. In August, 1896, she, with her parents, removed to Moody, Texas, where in July, 1878, she professed religion and joined the M. E. Church South, the following August and lived a consistent life until the angel of death, on the morning of March 12th, summoned her to our father's house. Dec. 17th, 1899, she was happily united in matrimony to Bro. Leslie H. Miller, and in Dec., 1900, she and her husband removed to Martha, O. T., where her remains await her Master's call on the resurrection morning.

She was a devoted wife, a loving companion, and was appreciated by all who knew her. Her demise was not a surprise, as she had for several days been strangely impressed that the end was near. She expressed a willingness to go, if the Master would it so.

She leaves a heart-broken husband and grief-stricken loved ones to rear their little boy. It is seldom one witnesses a scene so sad, as the one at her obsequies. It was so sad that scarcely any one in the large audience was not moved to tears.

To the God of sympathy and love we commend the bereaved husband and relations. Her race is run and cares and toils have ceased to annoy. She waits and watches for the coming of those who wait and suffer still.

J. F. TYSON, P. C.

Up to Durbin.

If the Republican party in Kentucky and Indiana wished to purge itself of the suspicion now attaching to the organization in connection with the death of Goebel, not one hour would be permitted to pass before Ex-Governor Taylor would be on his way to the place of trial.

Hitherto the Republican cry has been raised that a Democratic conspiracy existed to incriminate Taylor and his friends in the plot to kill Goebel. There was not a scintilla of evidence to support such an outrageous assertion, but with the persistence born of despair the Republicans held to the plea with same effect among the unknown.

How baseless was this charge may be gathered from the testimony in the trial of another of the men charged with being in the Goebel plot, Garnett Ripley. Two men standing high in the councils of the Republican party, men who were counsel for Taylor, have given corroborative evidence which throws a burden of explanation on Taylor. Ex-Governor Bradley and Judge W. H. Yost, despite any partisanship which they might feel, have given by far the most damaging evidence yet produced in the series of trials.

Taylor left the State to escape arrest because, as he said, he could not get an impartial trial. When Golden made his confession last year, Taylor said it was a concoction of lies. He protested against "perjured" testimony. He did not stand alone in this position, for when he attended the Philadelphia convention the Republicans there assembled gave him an ovation.

Governor Durbin, of Indiana, can ill afford to refuse a requisition for Taylor. If he does, he becomes part and parcel of an effort to defeat justice. The Goebel law has nothing to do with the case. It is a question as to whether a murder shall be investigated thoroughly.—St. Louis Republic.

Deboe has never shone as a scholar or a statesman, but like a faithful dog he is sticking to Taylor, who by flight, made confession of complicity in the assassination of Goebel. Since there is nothing else he can be given credit for we should not begrudge a recognition of Deboe's fidelity, even if it is only of the canine sort.—Louisville Times.

Louisville Times: The fusion ticket of Democrats and bolting Republicans in Christian county has adopted as a ballot device a rooster on top of a smokehouse. The negro voter couldn't keep away from that combination if he wanted to.

It has taken a long time for the truth about the Goebel assassination to come out, but if the witnesses live a few more years there is every chance that the facts will be set straight.

Kentucky Officials Reticent.

Frankfort, Ky., April 15.—Both Gov. Beckham and Commonwealth's Attorney Franklin decline to discuss the matter of requisition on the Governor of Indiana for the return of W. S. Taylor and Charles Finley, the former declining to make any statement at all, and the latter only saying that he has as yet made no request of the executive for requisition papers. The reticence of these two by whom such a step would be taken is generally taken here to mean that something is on or will shortly be and that the papers will soon be forwarded to Indiana. The opinion expressed here is that when sent the papers heretofore turned down by the late Gov. Mount will be honored by Gov. Durbin.

The possible departure of the fugitives from the State of Indiana for some other haven of refuge has, it is said here, been taken into consideration by the brothers of the murdered man and that if Taylor and Finley ever leave that State it will be only to return here to stand trial.

Precedents.

Funston did not capture Aguinaldo by going outside the precedents of war in this country. To those who think that perhaps a greater respect for the ordinary procedure would have been better a few incidents cited by a New York writer will be interesting.

George Washington came near being a victim of a plot of this nature. During the early part of the war, at the instigation of the British, some of his bodyguard became involved in a scheme to turn the American General over to the enemy. If the plan had been successful an entirely different face might have been put on the Revolutionary struggle. As it happened, a woman overheard the plotters and informed Washington. The ringleader was hanged.

After General Arnold had deserted, Sergeant Champe attempted to kidnap the traitor and bring him back to justice. By a mere accident the scheme failed, as Arnold moved from his house only a few hours before the attempt was made. Champe's failure was regretted among all the patriots. However, the British General Prescott was captured by practically the same means near Newport in 1777.

More recently, the capture of General Stoughton by General Mosby will be remembered. Mosby with twenty-nine Confederates went into the Union camp at Fairfax courthouse and escaped identification. He found Gen. Stoughton asleep in a house used as headquarters. The Union General awoke when he heard the name of Mosby uttered. Raising himself in bed, he said: "Have you got him?" "He's got you," was the reply from Mosby. Stoughton was successfully carried through the lines to General Fitzhugh Lee's camp before any alarm was given.

The tract of land known as the Riova, Comanche and Apache reservations, one of the few left in the Indian territory, will soon be open to actual settlement. It comprises about 5,000,000 acres, lying between south-western Oklahoma, Indian Territory proper and Texas, and is reported to be rich and productive land. Nearly 1,000,000 acres will be apportioned to the Indians, leaving about 3,000,000 to be opened to white settlement. For those contemplating taking up land it is important to know that the rush system has been abandoned. Notice of the opening will be advertised, and application must be made to the officer in charge of the reservation, who will award the land by lot. Those drawing allotments will know where their land is located and can make the necessary filing, while those drawing blanks will have to return some. It is estimated that the opening up of this reservation will add about 30,000 to the population of Oklahoma, giving that territory considerably over 400,000 people, a number which will have an important bearing on the questions of statehood.

An exchange tells of a young lady teacher who gave her experience as follows: "I was trying to teach little Johnny to spell and pronounce the word 'feet.' After many trials I succeeded in teaching him his letters, but to save my life could not teach him how to pronounce the word. In despair I said: 'Now, Johnny, what is it a cow has four, of which I have only two?' The answer was prompt, the pronunciation perfect. But, oh! it was so unexpected that I wished the floor would open and swallow me up to hide the shame on my face as the entire school tittered at my embarrassment and Johnny's unexpected reply. I'll never, never ask such a question again if I teach school all my life."

If the United States is not involved in trouble with the Cubans it will not be the fault of the American officers now stationed there. A few days ago Gov. Gen. Wood undertook to suppress a newspaper that published a cartoon about him and last week Capt. Lucian Young, a naval officer, sent two other editors to prison for sixty and thirty days because their paper accused him of lying. Capt. Young's remedy in the United States would be in a libel suit or in a personal demand for satisfaction and his attempt to send men to prison for questioning his veracity is an interference with the freedom of the press in a way that would not be tolerated in America and should not be in Cuba. The President should send officers to Cuba whose feelings are not set with hair-triggers and who have sense enough not to use their official positions to resent personal insults.

A Ragging Roaring Fool.

Washed down a telegraph line which Chas. C. Ellis, of Lisbon, Ia., had to repair. "Standing waist deep in icy water," he writes, "gave me a terrible cold and cough. It grew worse daily. Finally the best doctors in Oakland, Neb., Sioux City and Omaha said I had Consumption and could not live. Then I began using Dr. King's New Discovery and was wholly cured by six bottles." Positively guaranteed for Coughs, Colds and all Throat and Lung troubles by T. E. Paull. Price 50c and $1.00.

Probably very few people are aware of the fact that a large proportion of the eggs used in the country go into the manufacture of some article other than food. The calico print works use over 40,000,000 dozen. The demand from these sources increase faster than the table demand. They are used by book binders, kid glove manufacturers and in finishing leather.

Marion Kooke, manager for T. M. Thompson, a large importer of fine millinery at 638 Milwaukee Avenue, Chicago, says: During the late severe weather I caught a dreadful cold which kept me awake at night and made me unfit to attend my work during the day. One of my milliners was taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a severe cold at that time, which seemed to relieve her so quickly that I bought some for myself. It acted like magic and I began to improve at once. I am now entirely well and feel very pleased to acknowledge its merits." For sale by M. Cravens.

An old lady, being told that a certain lawyer 'was lying at the point of death,' exclaimed: "My gracious! Won't even death stop that man's lying?"—Tit-Bits.

A Woman's Weariness.

Woman's sensitiveness make them subject to more intense weariness than men. The melancholy, depression and exhaustion they suffer is due to a sluggish action of the organs, which lead the system with impurities, poisons the blood and shatters their nerves. Morley's Sarsaparilla and Iron will cleanse the system, revitalize the nerves and give strength and energy. Sold by agents in every town.

Tom Reed, ex-Speaker of the House and surnamed the Czar, has become a director in a big life insurance company. He has undoubtedly sunk his political ambition and is looking out for the main chance.

Any cough is serious enough to warrant prompt attention. It is what it may result in that makes a cough dangerous. For all slight and stubborn coughs, for gripp, lung fever, bronchitis, asthma and other throat and lung affections, you can find no other remedy so agreeable and harmless, or so promptly effective as Morley's Honey Pectoral. Price 25 cents. Ask your druggist.

Secretary Wilson, of the President's Cabinet, says a year hence the United States will raise all the rice required within the country.

It's Easy To Feel Good.

Countless thousands have found a blessing to the body in Dr. King's New Life Pills, which positively cure Constipation, Sick Headache, Dizziness, Scurvy, Malaria, Fever and Ague, and all Liver and Stomach troubles. Purely vegetable; never gripe or weaken. Only 25c at T. E. Paull's drug store.

It is now time for the stockmen to advertise their stock. In our judgment the newspaper that reaches the people is the very best medium. Bills do but little towards advertising, as they are rarely ever seen but a few miles from home; their purpose in the main is to set forth terms. The News, read by 5,000 people every week, is ready to tell the story. If you have good stock, worthy and desirable advertising in this paper.

Arbuckles' famous Roasted Coffee

The low price at which Arbuckles' famous roasted coffee can be sold is made possible by its enormous sale. It should not be classed with the inferior imitations sold at a cent a pound less than Arbuckles'. It has a quality greatly superior to these imitations and makes many more cupsful to the pound. No other firm in the world can buy coffee to so good advantage as the producers of Arbuckles' Coffee. No other coffee is cleaned, roasted or blended with such great care and skill. When you buy Arbuckles' you get better quality and greater value than you can get in any other coffee at anywhere near the same price.

You also get with each package a definite part in some useful article. Full information with each package. Save the signatures.
